I met Tuesday, following the meeting in the meeting earlier that day, about audio feeds from the Conference Room. I told you that there were two such feeds, one in my office and that of Senator Mitchell. I have since learned that wiring had been provided for a third feed (Room 100). As I explained, they were provided as a courtesy to Senator Mitchell and to facilitate arrangements for the two Prime Ministers.

Now that matters have moved on I have reviewed the justification for the feeds. I have concluded that they are not justified and all have been disconnected.

I am sending a copy of this note to the heads of all the other delegations present in the building.

Ian

I wrote to you last Tuesday, following your comments in the meeting earlier that day, about audio feeds from the Conference Room. I told you that there were two such feeds, to my office and that of Senator Mitchell (and I have since learned that wiring had been provided for a third, in Stormont Castle). As I explained, they were provided as a courtesy to Senator Mitchell and to facilitate arrangements for the two Prime Ministers.

Now that matters have moved on I have reviewed the justification for the feeds. I have concluded that they are not justified and all have been disconnected.

I am sending a copy of this note to the heads of all the other delegations present in the building.
