PART II.

2. 1° Dáil Éireann shall be composed of members who represent constituencies, and one member only shall be returned for each constituency.

2° The members shall be elected on the system of the single non-transferable vote, the candidate in a constituency who receives the largest number of votes being elected, but provision may be made by law for determining who is to be elected where there is no such candidate because two or more candidates receive the same number of votes.

3° The number of constituencies shall be determined from time to time by law, but the total number of constituencies shall not be fixed at less than one constituency for each thirty thousand of the population or at more than one constituency for each twenty thousand of the population.

3. 1° A Constituency Commission shall be established from time to time when determined by the President, but not less frequently than once in every twelve years.

2° A Constituency Commission shall consist of seven members appointed by the President, of whom one shall be appointed after consultation by the President with the Council of State, three shall be appointed from the members of Dáil Éireann on the nomination of the Taoiseach and three shall be appointed from the members of Dáil Éireann on the nomination of the Chairman of Dáil Éireann.

3° The member of a Constituency Commission appointed after consultation by the President with the Council of State shall be appointed from the judges of the Supreme Court and High Court and shall be the Chairman of the Commission.

4° The members of a Constituency Commission appointed on the nomination of the Chairman of Dáil Éireann shall have been selected from the members of Dáil Éireann who are determined by him to be in opposition, and on a basis and in a manner determined by him.

5° Any member of a Constituency Commission may resign from office by placing his resignation in the hands of the President.

6° The President, after consultation with the Council of State, may, for reasons which to him seem sufficient, by an order under his hand and Seal, terminate the appointment of any member of a Constituency Commission, but in the case of a member other than the Chairman, the President, before having consultation with the Council of State, shall have consultation with the Taoiseach if the member was nominated by the Taoiseach, or with the Chairman of Dáil Éireann if the member was nominated by the Chairman of Dáil Éireann.

7° The quorum of a Constituency Commission shall be four, and a Commission may act notwithstanding vacancies in their membership.

President, the Commission shall proceed to determine or to revise 5 the boundaries of the constituencies on a fair and equitable basis, having due regard to geographical features and established administrative and territorial divisions and, subject to those considerations, in such manner that the population of each constituency, as ascertained at the last preceding census, shall, so far as it is practicable, 10 be the same throughout the country.

3° The Commission shall, not later than six months after the date of the President's request, present to the President a report setting out the boundaries of the constituencies as determined or revised by the Commission either with the unanimous agreement of their mem- 15 bers or by a majority, but if, because of failure to secure unanimous agreement or agreement by a majority, no report is so presented, the Chairman shall, not later than seven months after the date of the President's request, present to the President a report setting out the boundaries of the constituencies as determined or revised by 20 the Chairman, and that report shall be taken as the report of the Commission.

4° The Commission's report shall be signed by the Chairman or other member so directed by the Commission, and no minority 25 report shall be presented.

5° Immediately after the Commission's report has been presented, the Commission shall stand dissolved.

6° No Court shall entertain any question as to whether the Commission have been properly constituted or any question as to whether the determination or revision of the boundaries of constitu- 30 encies as set out in their report has been properly carried out.

5. 1° As soon as may be after the receipt by him of the Commission's report, the President shall send the report to the Taoiseach, who shall cause it to be laid before Dáil Éireann.

2° If, within the next fourteen days on which Dáil Éireann has 35 sat after the report is laid before it, a resolution amending the report is passed by Dáil Éireann and supported by not less than two-thirds of the members present and voting, the report shall be amended accordingly.

3° Immediately after the last of the next fourteen days on which 40
Dáil Éireann has sat after the Commission's report is laid before it, the boundaries set out in the report, or, where the report has been amended by Dáil Éireann, in the report as so amended, shall become and be the boundaries of the constituencies, provided that any alterations in the constituencies shall not take effect during the life 45 of Dáil Éireann then sitting.

6. Subject to the provisions of this Article, any matter whatsoever relating to Constituency Commissions or their members may be provided for by law.

7. 1° Until the date of the dissolution of Dáil Éireann occurring 50 next after the 15th day of April, 1961, or occurring next after such earlier date as may be determined by a resolution passed by Dáil Éireann, Dáil Éireann shall be composed of members who represent the constituencies determined by the law in force on the 1st day of January, 1959, and all elections for membership of Dáil Éireann, 55 including the filling of casual vacancies, shall take place in accordance with that law.

4. 1° As soon as may be after the establishment of a Constituency Commission, the President shall request the Commission to determine or to revise the boundaries of the constituencies.

2° As soon as may be after the receipt of the request from the 5 President, the Commission shall proceed to determine or to revise the boundaries of the constituencies on a fair and equitable basis, having due regard to geographical features and established administrative and territorial divisions and, subject to those considerations,
10 in such manner that the population of each constituency, as ascertained at the last preceding census, shall, so far as it is practicable, be the same throughout the country.

3° The Commission shall, not later than six months after the date of the President's request, present to the President a report setting
15 out the boundaries of the constituencies as determined or revised by the Commission either with the unanimous agreement of their members or by a majority, but if, because of failure to secure unanimous agreement or agreement by a majority, no report is so presented, the Chairman shall, not later than seven months after the date of the President's request, present to the President a report setting
20 out the boundaries of the constituencies as determined or revised by the Chairman, and that report shall be taken as the report of the Commission.

4° The Commission's report shall be signed by the Chairman or other member so directed by the Commission, and no minority
25 report shall be presented.

5° Immediately after the Commission's report has been presented, the Commission shall stand dissolved.

6° No Court shall entertain any question as to whether the Commission have been properly constituted or any question as to 30 whether the determination or revision of the boundaries of constituencies as set out in their report has been properly carried out.

5. 1° As soon as may be after the receipt by him of the Commission's report, the President shall send the report to the Taoiseach, who shall cause it to be laid before Dáil Éireann.

35 2° If, within the next fourteen days on which Dáil Éireann has sat after the report is laid before it, a resolution amending the report is passed by Dáil Éireann and supported by not less than two-thirds of the members present and voting, the report shall be amended accordingly.

40 3° Immediately after the last of the next fourteen days on which Dáil Éireann has sat after the Commission's report is laid before it, the boundaries set out in the report, or, where the report has been amended by Dáil Éireann, in the report as so amended, shall become 45 and be the boundaries of the constituencies, provided that any alterations in the constituencies shall not take effect during the life of Dáil Éireann then sitting.

6. Subject to the provisions of this Article, any matter whatsoever relating to Constituency Commissions or their members may be provided for by law.

50 7. 1° Until the date of the dissolution of Dáil Éireann occurring next after the 15th day of April, 1961, or occurring next after such earlier date as may be determined by a resolution passed by Dáil Éireann, Dáil Éireann shall be composed of members who represent the constituencies determined by the law in force on the 1st day of 55 January, 1959, and all elections for membership of Dáil Éireann, including the filling of casual vacancies, shall take place in accordance with that law.

2° In the case of the person who is the Chairman of Dáil Éireann immediately before the dissolution referred to in the foregoing sub-section of this section, the law referred to in section 11 of this Article may, notwithstanding any other provision of this Article, enable him to be deemed to be elected as a second member for a constituency which includes a part of the constituency he represented before that dissolution.

3° The Commission shall not later than six months after the date of the President's report present to the President a report setting out the boundaries of the constituencies as determined or revised by the Commission after the manner aforesaid or of their modification by a majority of the members of the Commission or by agreement or arrangement by a majority as aforesaid. The Chairman shall not later than seven months after the date of the President's report present to the President a report setting out the boundaries of the constituencies as determined or revised by the Commission, and that report shall be taken as the report of the Commission.

4° The Commission's report shall be signed by the Chairman or other member so directed by the Commission, and no minority report shall be presented.

5° Immediately after the Commission's report has been presented the Commission shall stand dissolved.

6° No Court shall entertain any question as to whether the Commission have been properly constituted or any question as to whether any determination or revision of the boundaries of constituencies set out in their report has been properly carried out.

7° As soon as may be after the receipt by him of the Commission's report, the President shall send the report to the Taoiseach who shall endeavour to be laid before Dáil Éireann.

8° If within the next fourteen days on which Dáil Éireann has sat after the report is laid before it a resolution endorsing the report is passed by Dáil Éireann and supported by not less than two-thirds of the members present and voting, the report shall be amended accordingly.

9° Immediately after the last of the next fourteen days on which Dáil Éireann has sat after the Commission's report is laid before it, the President shall set out in the report or where the report has been amended by Dáil Éireann in the report as so amended, shall become and be the boundaries of the constituencies, provided that any alterations in the constituencies shall not take effect during the life of Dáil Éireann then sitting.

10° Subject to the provisions of this Article, any matter whatsoever relating to Constituency Commissions or their members may be provided for by law.

11° Until the date of the dissolution of Dáil Éireann occurring next after the first day of April 1967 or occurring next after such earlier date as may be determined by a resolution passed by Dáil Éireann, Dáil Éireann shall be composed of members who represent the constituencies determined by the law in force on the last day of January 1967, and all elections for members of Dáil Éireann following the expiry of annual vacancies shall take place in accordance with that law.

2° In the case of the person who is the Chairman of Dáil Éireann immediately before the dissolution referred to in the foregoing sub-section of this section, the law referred to in section 11 of this Article may, notwithstanding any other provision of this Article, enable him to be deemed to be elected as a second member for a constituency which includes a part of the constituency he represented before that dissolution.
