TALKS: 30 OCTOBER: SUMMARY

Alliance Party, UUP and British Government made their presentations on decommissioning, thereby concluding the round of initial statements. Plenary was adjourned until Monday at 1300 hrs when there would be broad discussion on all parties' statements and on any other written proposals, which the Chairman requested should be submitted to his staff by noon on Friday for distribution to all delegations. No discernible shift of ground on the UUP's approach to decommissioning.

2. Inconclusive discussion with the Chairmen and Irish Government with the former suggesting that it was time for a new initiative to take forward the negotiations, otherwise they would exhaust themselves. Senator Mitchell hoped that the two Governments in early consultation with the UUP and SDLP could reach some form of agreement on decommissioning which would enable the process to move into three stranded negotiations. Both Governments noted the Chairman's remarks but suggested any movement would have to be in light of parties' reactions to today's statements.

3. Under instruction from the Minister for Justice, Irish officials drew to the Chairman's attention DUP briefing of the media on the previous day's arguments over the number of supporting officials permitted in the Conference room.

4. In the afternoon a friendly but inconclusive exchange of views between Michael Ancram (joined later by the Secretary of State) and the Tanaiste. (Recorded separately.)

The day's business consisted of a single plenaty essaion at which the trial deveryment and the Labour Party gave their presentations on asthemissioning. At the sol of the plenaty essaion the DUP applained about the size of the Itish delegation. After an adjournment, the Chairman concluded that a convention should be applied to future semilons under which the political parties should have no more than 3 supporters and the doweriments, no more than 5
